

“Wedding Prayer”

Douglas D. Feaver

Composed for his own wedding June 10, 1950

Played as cello/piano instrumental at his memorial service April 11, 2015

Grant Lord, Thy Spirit calm as a river
In guiding, controlling these two from above
May make of them one, now and forever
To serve Thee and others in love.

May Sorrow's Hand but bind them in Union
The fierce fires of trial but forge bonds of steel
To bind them to Thee in sweeter communion
And joy, pure and holy, reveal.

May lives of service of full consecration
And poured out for others Thy glory increase.
May these two in Thee reach a full consummation
Of Love, Joy and infinite peace.
of Love, and Joy, and infinite Peace.

A-men, a-men.
